A HISTORIC MOMENT: Cedar Point natives celebrate installation of Magnolia marker

Several Cedar Point natives on Saturday gathered at Commodore Park - across from the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club - to celebrate the installation of a Magnolia marker.

This historic area of Bay St. Louis will now be listed on the state and national registry of historic places, Cedar Point native Dot Larroux Kersanac said.

Her son, Johnny, welcomed everyone to the event and also unveiled and read the marker.

The marker says: "Cedar Point: Located in the northern part of Bay St. Louis, the area known as Cedar Point developed in the late 1880s when G.W. Dunbar and Sons built a seafood cannery near the end of Dunbar Avenue. In 1909, the Peerless Oyster Co. opened at the present-day site of the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club. Other structures located here include the St. Joseph Chapel, Taylor School, later Bay-Waveland Garden Club, and the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre, all destroyed by Hurricane Katrina. Cedar Point played an important role in the development of Bay St. Louis."

"This historical marker is dedicated to our forefathers who ventured out from their homeland of France, Italy, Germany, Spain, South America, to come to the home of the free and the brave," Kersanac said Saturday. "They endured more hardships than we can ever imagine, crossing the ocean, coming to a new world where a different language was spoken, not being able to communicate with their neighbors - can you imagine? Having to completely start from scratch. What stamina. That's where we get our get up and get started rebuilding after our hurricanes. I've gone through the 1947 Camille and Katrina. Our incredible stamina in that regard has been passed down to us from our forefathers who ventured out to come to America and eventually Bay St. Louis."

In addition to the recognition of the five mentioned structures, Kersanac said the marker also recognizes the several generations of families who made their homes in Cedar Point.

Chuck Benvenutti read aloud a letter from his brother Peter, Jr. The family's contribution to the marker was made in memory of their parents, Elizabeth Beyer and Peter J. Benvenutti, long time Cedar Point residents.

Kersanac thanked the Hancock County

‘Sundays in the Park’: NAACP is ‘bringing the park back to the children’

PHOTOS AND STORY BY CASSANDRA FAVRE
STAFF WRITER

Sunday marked the third week in a row that the Hancock County chapter of the NAACP has hosted "Sundays in the Park," at Martin Luther King, Jr. Park in Bay St. Louis, NAACP President Gregory Barabino said.

Barabino said the purpose of the NAACP's project – spurred by the violent events of June 6, which left one dead and another injured – is to bring the park back to the children and provide proper park supervision.

The event also serves to promote using the park and its equipment properly, Barabino said.

"We want to set an example," he said.

Sunday, children played on a water slide, played basketball, enjoyed music and food and refreshments. The youths also participated in a community art project hosted by The Arts, Hancock County.

Ann Madden, VP of The Arts, Hancock County, said the mural will be hung at MLK Park.

"Everyone can paint what they want," she said. "We also plan to put a stencil of Dr. King on the mural."

The Arts, Hancock County President Steve Barney said it's important to engage the kids in a community art project.

"They can pick up a paint brush and tell a story," he said.

Makaila Acker, 13, did just that.

However, she said, she is a frequent park visitor and often brings her art supplies to the park.

She said she plans to be an artist.

"It's cool they're taking back the park," she said. "It's a place for kids to let loose and hang out instead of staying in the house."

Makensie Acker, 9, said she loves "the big, giant slide."

Makensie said she painted a tree with money on it.

"The words on it are going to say 'money doesn't grow on trees,'" Makensie said.

Makensie said she enjoys visiting the park and exploring new parts.

"Everyone is welcome to come out on Sundays from 1 to 8 p.m.," Barabino said.

Makensie Acker lends her artistic talents to the mural.

Families enjoyed Sunday's sunny weather.

Two Drivers Sentenced For Human Smuggling

SEA COAST ECHO

Ever Anibal Silva-Escobar, a citizen of El Salvador, was sentenced on Tuesday, July 17, 2018, to 27 months in federal prison by U.S. District Judge Louis Guirola, Jr., for conspiracy to transport illegal aliens within the United States, announced U.S. Attorney Mike Hurst, Jere T. Miles, Special Agent-in-Charge of U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement's Homeland Security Investigations in New Orleans, and Gregory K. Bovino, Chief Patrol Agent of the U.S. Border Patrol's New Orleans Sector.

Additionally, one of Silva-Escobar's passengers, Yesica Paola Rojas-Baten, a citizen of Guatemala, was sentenced on Thursday, July 19, 2018, to 5 months and 19 days imprisonment. Rojas-Baten was sentenced by U.S. District Judge Sul Ozerden for her violation of being an alien who illegally returned to the United States after having been lawfully removed. Rojas-Baten previously pled guilty on April 30, 2018. Silva-Escobar and Rojas-Baten both were sentenced to 1 year of supervised release following their imprisonment. Silva-Escobar was also ordered to pay a $1,000 fine.

On January 30, 2018, two Hancock County Sheriff's Deputies, working together, but in separate patrol vehicles, conducted traffic stops of two Honda Pilot Sport Utility Vehicles (SUVs) that were traveling together. Silva-Escobar was the driver of one of the SUVs and Kenneth Samuel Hernandez-Valdez, also known as Kenneth Hernandez, was the driver of the other SUV. The U.S. Border Patrol was contacted and arrived on the scene shortly thereafter.

Neither of the drivers had a valid driver's license, and both were in the United States illegally. Each vehicle contained eight passengers who also were found to be illegal aliens. The SUVs each contained a total of nine occupants even though each vehicle only had seat belts for eight occupants. All eighteen occupants of both vehicles were arrested and transported to the Border Patrol Station in Gulfport, MS.

Silva-Escobar and Hernandez-Valdez, confirmed that they knew their passengers were illegal aliens, and the evidence showed that they were being paid to transport the aliens from Texas. On April 3, 2018, Hernandez-Valdez also pled guilty to Conspiracy to Transport Illegal Aliens Within the United States, and he was sentenced on June 27, 2018, to 27 months in federal prison and 2 years of supervised release upon completion of his sentence.

Further, three other passengers, Pedro Lopez-Alvarez a/k/a Pedro Lopez Alvarez a/k/a Pedro Alvarez-Baten, a citizen of Guatemala; Silvano Doroteo Morales-Ventura a/k/a Silvano Morales Ventura, a citizen of Mexico; and Wilmer Antonio Rubi-Padilla a/k/a Wilmer Rubi Padilla, a citizen of Honduras, were sentenced on July 3, 2018, for Unlawfully Returning to the U.S. After Removal. The three men were sentenced by Judge Guirola to terms ranging from just over 5 months to 6 months in prison. Each of the men had been convicted after pleading guilty on April 10, 2018.

U.S. Attorney Hurst praised the cooperation exhibited by the Department of Homeland Security, Homeland Security Investigations, the U.S. Border Patrol, and the Hancock County Sheriff's Department. Assistant United States Attorney Stan Harris was the prosecutor for the case

Mississippi Reports Second West Nile Virus Human Case of 2018

SEA COAST ECHO

JACKSON, Miss. – Today the Mississippi State Department of Health (MSDH) reports its second human case of West Nile virus (WNV) in 2018. The reported case is in Pearl River County.

So far this year cases have been reported in Hinds and Pearl River counties. Symptoms of WNV infection are often mild and may include fever, headache, nausea, vomiting, a rash, muscle weakness or swollen lymph nodes. In a small number of cases, infection can result in encephalitis or meningitis, which can lead to paralysis, coma and possibly death.

The MSDH suggests the following precautions to protect yourself and your family from mosquito-borne illnesses:

- Use a mosquito repellent with an EPA-registered ingredient such as DEET while you are outdoors.

- Remove all sources of standing water around your home and yard to prevent mosquito breeding.

- Wear loose, light-colored, long clothing to cover the arms and legs when outdoors.

- Avoid areas where mosquitoes are prevalent.

For more information on mosquito-borne illnesses, visit the MSDH website at HealthyMS.com/westnile.

We're still standing

Thomas Jefferson said, "Were it left to me to decide whether we should have a government without newspapers or newspapers without a government, I should not hesitate a moment to prefer the latter."

A recent study conducted by the Columbia University Journalism Review underscores Jefferson's sentiment. The study shows that when a newspaper closes, local government waste skyrocket.

Guest Opinion

by Wyatt Emmerich
Publisher Northside Sun

The study reports: "We conducted a systematic study of newspaper closures and government borrowing costs in the United States, for the period ranging from 1996 to 2015. We identified newspaper closures using hand-collected newspaper data from the Editor and Publisher yearbooks. Newspaper closures were especially prevalent during that time period because of the rising popularity of online news outlets (which do not focus as strongly on local government issues) and online classified ad sites such as Craigslist (which, as part of the larger effect of the internet on local newspapers, significantly eroded newspaper advertising revenues). We then collected government borrowing cost data from the Mergent Municipal Securities Database and cross-referenced this information with the newspaper closure data.

"We found that local government borrowing costs significantly increased for counties that have experienced a newspaper closure compared to geographically adjacent counties with similar demographic and economic characteristics without newspaper closures. Our evidence indicates that a lack of local newspaper coverage has serious financial consequences for local governments, and that alternative news sources are not necessarily filling the gaps."

Sweetheart financial deals with local governments have always been a notorious cesspool of graft. Millions of dollars in fees and financing costs are associated with various bonds issued by local governments. Without the watchful eye of the press, sweetheart deals go undetected and government financing costs skyrocket. That's what the study found.

The study reports, "One challenge in this study was establishing a cause-and-effect relationship between newspaper closures and local government borrowing costs. (For example, depressed local economic conditions could drive both the closures and higher borrowing costs. We also examined government borrowing costs in a county that experienced a newspaper closure and a neighboring county with similar demographic and economic characteristics that still had its own newspaper operation. In this case, we found that borrowing costs only increase in the county that experienced the closure, but not for the neighboring county that did not experience a closure. Both approaches establish that there is a causal connection between newspaper closures and government borrowing costs."

I am not surprised in the least by the study, nor would Thomas Jefferson. As our nation has lost half its profes-

Are millenials toying with socialism?

History shows in resounding detail that pure socialism is an abject failure on the world financial stage. As Margaret Thatcher observed, "The trouble with socialism is that eventually you run out of other people's money." Socialists may have the best intentions when spending others' money, but it is still others' money.

Yet, worst of all, naked socialism/communism was the trigger that, together with fascism, destroyed over a hundred million human lives in World War II. From 1958 to 1962, the Great Leap Forward policy of Mao Zedong, the leader of China's communist revolution, led to the deaths of 45 million of his own people. But that does not make news because those killed were just a bunch of everyday Chinese.

Hence the creepy, blood-chilling description,

REFLECTIONS ON LIFE
by Fr. Jerome Ledoux, SVD

"atheistic, materialistic communism."

And what is the difference between socialism and communism? They are stages of development of the same beast. The very name of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics (USSR) gave it away. Socialism is an economic system while communism is both an economic and political system. Socialists are allowed to own personal properties, but under communism the state owns everything. In socialism, there is an equal distribution of income that aims at filling the gap between rich and poor. Socialism allows capitalism to exist in its midst while communism supposedly forbids capitalism to coexist. Nevertheless, though sworn communists, the Chinese are the largest capitalistic nation in the world. What kind of shell game is that?

It defies imagination to hear that there are still individuals in the free world who admire the likes of Karl Marx and Vladimir Lenin. Despite socialism's history of carnage, today it is chic to be ultra-liberal, just as, until several decades ago, it was fashionable for movie stars and other celebrities to side with communism. Former CIA Director John Brennan voted for Communist Party USA candidate Gus Hall in the 1976 presidential election, commenting that he viewed it as a way "of signaling my unhappiness with the system, and the need for change."

Some newspaper columnists like Steve Chapman do a good job of pinpointing and analyzing the economic roots and political causes of social malaise. However, they fail to acknowledge the seminal and lasting damage inflicted on the minds of Millennials and others by today's extremely biased and ideological media. Thus, the fact that capitalism is history's most incredible engine of economic progress and prosperity for billions of erstwhile poor people around the world is challenged by a media bent on disparaging capitalism,

Try Fly Fishing For Excitement

If you are interested in fly fishing, but don't care for traveling long distances, the answer lies right here at home.

Mississippi is blessed with thousands of acres of waters which hold enough bluegill to make any angler dance a jig. Bluegill can provide the same kind of fun that trout do and can provide valuable practice in fly fishing.

Fly fishing for bluegill is fun and exciting. During the spawn, males are usually around beds and are extremely aggressive. They will hit almost any fly or popping bug that comes close to them. A fish every cast is not unusual.

Equipment should be kept simple. If bluegill are to be the main focus of your fly fishing efforts, a 7 to 7.5 foot fiberglass rod designed to cast 4 to 5 weight lines will be sufficient and will aid in casting accuracy, especially in close quarters. If you think you might try trout with the same gear, you may want to consider an 8 to 9 foot graphite or composite rod designed to cast 5 to 7 weight line, depending on the size of trout you intend to pursue. In a fly fishing reel, a lightweight, single-action reel with some type of drag system is all you need.

As is the case with monofilament line, there are many different types of fly lines on the market and it can be quite confusing trying to pick what is right for you. The manufacturer will suggest a line size best suited for that particular fly rod. I would advise using light-weight line. For example, if you have a rod designed for 5 to 7 weight line, try a 5 weight line. A double taper or weight forward taper in a floating line will give you the most versatility and will also simplify casting.

Manufactured leaders come in various lengths and sizes and are a matter of personal preference. For bluegill, match the length of your leader to the length of your rod. The leader should be tapered and the tippet should be somewhere in the 3 to 6 pound test size. Because of the expense of manufactured leaders, it would be wise to purchase tippet material in the same test size as your leader. This way, when your leader gets down to the heavier test, you can simply tie on a piece of the tippet material to make your leader its original length, rather than replacing the leader.

Effective flies for bluegill include popping bugs, wet flies, and nymphs, in various insect patterns, and a few dry flies. Remember that bluegill have small mouths, so flies in 12 to 20 hook sizes work best. The best colors are black, olive-green, and brown.

Now that you are fully equipped, locate some fish. Be sure to take a young person with you!

The Waveland Fire Department responded to a house fire at about 5:30 a.m. Tuesday. The blaze was fully involved when firefighters arrived on the scene. The home was destroyed, but no injuries were reported. The Bay St. Louis Fire Department provided support at the scene.

sional journalists over the last 20 years, I have seen an enormous increase in government corruption.

The cost of this corruption is many more times the cost of subscriptions. Those who think they are saving money by reading free news online are deluding themselves. They will pay many more times over in the form of government corruption and waste.

How did this come to be? How can an affluent nation like the United States lose half its journalists?

The answer: The destructive creativity of capitalism. Although the free market ultimately improves our lives, there can be a lot of destruction and disruption along the way.

It's not like newspaper publishers didn't see the digital age coming. Newspapers have had websites for decades. What we didn't see was two companies becoming monopolies and dominating 90 percent of the online revenue.

Facebook and Google produce zero original content. They pay no journalists to create content. Instead, they skim the content of newspapers and television stations for free and then repackage it through their software. They get all the benefit and none of the cost. It's a beautiful profit model, but it is destroying journalism in our country.

France has a simple solution. They force Google and Facebook to make payments to traditional newsgathering organizations that produce original content with professional journalists. That's not likely to happen here.

The Northside Sun tried to run Google Adwords. Google got all the money, we got peanuts. But during our Google experiment the Northside Sun miraculously began to appear all over Google News.

When we quit running Google ads, it was like the Sun ceased to exist. We never showed up on Google News or in searches. That's how they exercise their monopoly. Facebook does the same.

Even more sinister, only Google and Facebook have the sheer size to collect and synthesize massive profiles on every American citizen. They sell that data to advertisers seeking to target ads to specific people. Big Brother has arrived.

Meanwhile, there is a race to the bottom in terms of content. There's the endless drivel of Facebook chatter and sensationalist fake news designed to maximize eyeballs.

If that alone wasn't enough, the FBI now calls digital ad fraud the second biggest illegal business after the drug trade. Who knows what's a real eyeball and what's a bot? The fraud is in the billions of dollars.

Meanwhile, our newspapers will hunker down and keep covering the city council and county board meetings as always. Over the last 150 years, we have survived two world wars and countless technological advancements. We're still standing, waiting for the day people open their eyes and realize the value of original content produced by professional journalists.

especially in the United States. Ideological belief that big government can make everything work is being taught as dogma.

Prone by nature to be quite liberal and adventurous, very young minds fall easy prey to the unrelenting din created and festered by those ideological arms of the media that sometimes credit big government with the individual hard-earned advances in technology, energy, manufacture, agriculture, transportation and the mind-boggling inventions and capabilities of the cyber world. Compounding this bias problem of the media is the inertia (near laziness) problem of refusal of old and young alike to do informative research on any of these social and political problems.

They have a tiger by the tail and are simultaneously dancing with the devil.

Since raw, undisguised socialism was exposed as a bloodthirsty monster in the era of World War II, the moniker Social Democrats and other hybrids are used to detoxify the poisonous side of socialism.

Further, social is narrowed to indicate a particular kind of financial or medical initiative that ensures individual benefits. So, in 1935, President Franklin Roosevelt signed into law the Old Age, Survivors and Disability Insurance (OASDI) program, better known as Social Security. Although it bears a strong similarity to a ponzi (pyramid) scheme, it does not require explosive growth to sustain dividends. If the Social Security fund gets too low, retirement age can be adjusted higher and benefits can be adjusted lower. Despite the system's defects, not even staunch conservatives want to get rid of Social Security.

Medicare is a federal program that provides health coverage if you are 65 or older or have a severe disability, regardless of your income. Medicaid is a state and federal program that provides health coverage if you have a very low income.

The 2017 annual report: "Both Social Security and Medicare face long-term financing shortfalls under currently scheduled benefits and financing." Medicaid has similar problems in each state. Say "Ditto!" for Canada and Sweden, adding, "Waiting for vital health services can reach into months." Do your homework, Millennials!

It all comes down to casting

There is an old saying that, "10 percent of the fishermen catch 90% of the fish". I know for a fact that this saying is 110% true. It all comes down to one key element of fishing, and that is CASTING.

Our guides fish with hundreds and hundreds of people each year. Truth be told, only a very small portion of these people are proficient casters. Yes, I am well aware that folks take Charters for help with this, but most of the people we take out claim to have been fishing their whole life. Our guides are always happy to help, and we pride ourselves on making anglers better fisherman every time they Charter our boats.

It is very difficult to shoot a deer with a bow, if you don't practice. Golf, basketball, baseball, tennis are next to impossible if

by Capt. Sonny Schindler

you don't keep practicing. Fishing is no exception, you have to work to get better at it. Your chances for catching more and bigger fish soar off the charts, when you become a good caster.

So practice, and keep practicing your casting. When I was younger, we would have casting contests in the middle of the street. We would try to hit leaves in friends swimming pools, trying to perfect pinpoint casts. And it's not just casting with wind, taking the easy way out. If you really want to be lethal with a fishing pole, you need to get good at casting into the wind, or with a side wind. These windy conditions are usually "the tough days" when only a select few anglers come in with fish. Every cast should have a target. It can be a point, a ripple, a wave, anything. Keep at it, or fish with more experienced anglers, and ask for help.

Fishing is always fun, but it's way more fun when you get on some fish. Get better at casting, and you definitely get more fish. As always, have fun and be safe.

HANCOCK COUNTY LIBRARY SYSTEM

COMIC CON 2018

PHOTOS AND STORY BY CASSANDRA FAVRE
STAFF WRITER

More than 500 people on Saturday and Sunday attended the Hancock County Library System's third annual Comic Con in Bay St. Louis, HCLS Youth Services Coordinator Amber Stephenson said Monday. "It absolutely exceeded our expectations," she said. "It's probably the most successful year we've had. We had a good turn out and a lot of returning exhibitors, plus new ones."

This year's exhibitors included: Gulf Coast Gaming Events; Mississippi Gulf Coast Paranormal; CoastCon; Vintage Movie Posters and Original Comic Book Art; The Barony of Seleone-The Society of Creative Anachronism, Inc.; HMS Barbarossa/The Royal Manticoran Navy; local artist Steven Harper; Rebel Legion; Airship Demensa; VR2U; and voter registration.

On Saturday, the library hosted game night, Stephenson said. About 80 participants played board and video games for about three hours that night, she said. On Sunday, in addition to perusing the exhibitors' tables, participating in a scavenger hunt, and more game playing, 28 people entered the costume contest, Stephenson said.

This year's winners include: Taylor Haney for Best Craftsmanship; Emily Sky Rautenberg for Best Craftsmanship Use; Mariah Dixon for Most Accurate - Adult; Nathan Dixon for Most Accurate - Youth; Brianna Dixon for Best in Show - Adult; and D.J. James for Best in Show - Youth.

Stephenson said preparation for the annual event was a team effort by library staff. Stephenson said the library plans to continue the event next year. "This year's event has already given us more ideas for next year," she said.

Dinosaur!

A Tyrannosaurus to be exact. T-Rex was a large, ferocious meat eating creature which became extinct 65 million years ago as the result of the impact of a large meteorite.

Newspapers are NOT dinosaurs!

Radio. Then television. Later cable news. Now social media. Each one in its time was rumored to be the end of newspapers. Hasn't happened.

Advertise your business on social media sites and your friends might see it.
Put that message in the newspaper and the entire community will see it.
Which one do you really think will get the best results?

Financial Peace University provides hope to families in Bay St. Louis

SEA COAST ECHO

More than 5 million people have positively changed their financial future through Ramsey Solutions' Financial Peace University (FPU). Created by financial expert Dave Ramsey, the nine-week course provides families and individuals with practical tools to gain control of their finances and set themselves up for long-term financial success. FPU will be held in Bay Saint Louis at:

Calvary Chapel Bay St. Louis located at 317 Reese Street in Bay Saint Louis. The classes will begin Sunday, August 05, 2018 at 4:00 PM. Go to www.fpu.com/1066426 for more information or to register.

Through common-sense principles, FPU gives people the tools they need to change their behavior and succeed financially. Along with Ramsey Personalities Rachel Cruze and Chris Hogan, Ramsey teaches lessons on budgeting, relationships and money, getting out of debt, saving for emergencies and investing. On average, families who complete FPU pay off $5,300 and save $2,700 in the first 90 days. Following the class nearly 94 percent of those families budget regularly.

"FPU will not only transform the way you handle money, but also your marriage and other areas of your life," says Ramsey. "This isn't a boring financial class. We make learning about money fun and easy to understand so people in every situation can benefit from the information."

An FPU membership includes access to online video lessons, a one year subscription to the EveryDollar Plus budgeting tool, member workbook for all nine lessons and other additional resources. Also included is the follow up course, Legacy Journey, which shows families and individuals what to do once they have control of their finances, and helps them navigate their way through building wealth so they are able to leave a lasting legacy. Go to DaveRamsey.com/FPU for more information.

The government's business is your business.

And Mississippians count on their newspapers to keep apprised of public notice advertising.

Half of Mississippi adults recall reading or seeing public notice advertising in a local or state newspaper.

And almost half (46%) of adults who have seen public notice advertising prefer to receive them in a printed newspaper, much higher than any other source.

Most Mississippians (87%) say keeping the public informed through public notices and legal advertising is an important requirement for government agencies. And the preferred method of receiving these notices is in a printed newspaper along with their associated websites.

According to a 2013 Advertising and Media Use Survey*, legal ads in printed newspapers have a much higher credibility than other media.

Over 1.5 million Mississippians read their local newspaper. Whether in print, online or on the go, newspapers are the leading source of information for Mississippi.

There is power in print.

Grief Support Group

SEA COAST ECHO

St. Thomas Episcopal Church is pleased to offer a six-week Grief Support Group to our Diamondhead and greater Hancock County Community. The six-week program will begin on Tuesday, September 4, 2018. If you or someone you care about has been dealing with emotional pain due to the loss of a spouse or other dearly-loved person, you are invited to participate. This will be a structured program which will include educational presentations to help us understand our overwhelming feelings of loss and how to better deal with them. It will also provide a safe, caring support group and an opportunity to share our own personal memories and issues.

The goal of these groups is to provide our community with a support vehicle to deal with the difficulties and emotional turbulence that follows the death of a loved one. Grief is a normal human process that all people experience in the course of life. The healthiest healing involves a process of working through the pain. We grieve most effectively when we find ourselves with others who understand and are willing to hear our pain. The groups will provide a safe, confidential place to share individual memories, thoughts, and experiences and to begin the process of moving into the next phase of your life.

The Grief Support Group will last for six weeks and will be held at St. Thomas Episcopal Church, 5303 Diamondhead Circle, across from the Diamondhead Community Center. The meetings will start at 6:30 p.m. If you have any questions, please call 228.234.2651, 228.255.9213, or 228.363.2211 for further information.
